UNIVERSITY HONORS PROGRAM

a unit of the OFFICE OF UNDERGRADUATE EDUCATION

Dear Puneet,

Congratulations on your admission to the University of Minnesota Twin Cities! I am delighted to inform you that you have also been admitted to the University Honors Program, a distinguished program providing high-achieving students with challenging, exciting, and interdisciplinary learning experiences.

Whether you aspire to win a Rhodes Scholarship, earn an advanced or professional degree, or excel in a career in business, technology, or the arts, the University Honors Program is a place where you can pursue your academic and professional goals. You will benefit from an expansive scholarly network that includes world-class faculty, state-of-the-art facilities, and personal attention from expert academic advisors. Details about these great opportunities are available online.

As a student in the University Honors Program, you will have the opportunity to take distinctive departmental Honors courses and small-enrollment Honors seminars taught by outstanding faculty from across the campus, providing deeply engaging learning experiences. You will be a member of a vibrant, welcoming, and supportive community of like-minded students.

Take advantage of the full Honors experience by selecting the Honors Residential Community in Middlebrook Hall. Here you will be part of a community of students who share your passion for learning and discovery. In Middlebrook, you can also participate in tutoring, advising, fun programming events, and honors experiences in the comfort of your residence hall. Double rooms, semi-private baths, and easy access to the West and East Banks make Middlebrook an ideal place to live. Your space is guaranteed when you request University Honors Residential Community on your housing application by May 1 at housing.umn.edu.

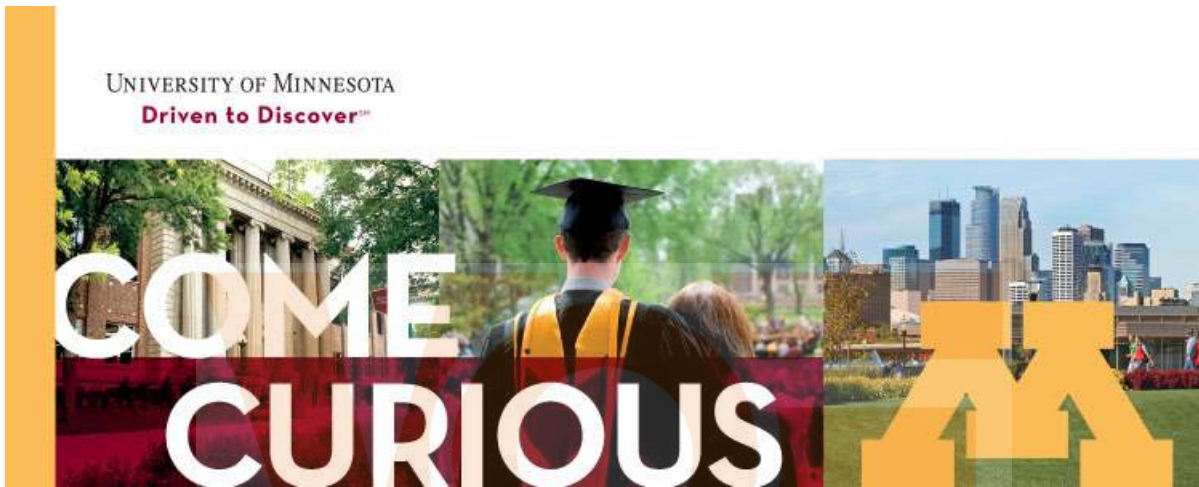

On behalf of the University faculty and staff, I welcome you to the University Honors Program—a place of extraordinary people, resources, shared passions, creative collaboration, and intellectual and cultural diversity. When you sign up for summer orientation, you will be asked to officially opt in to the University Honors Program.
